

That the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

I am currently pleased that I am receiving hardly any telemarketing calls. As a consumer, if I want something I go looking for it. I do not wish to be solicited at my home for anything. If I discontinued a service with someone, there is a reason. I do not want them to still be able to treat me like an existing customer. You either are or you're not, there is no grey area there. Thank you for your consideration.
